

Sticky Notes

Students can use sticky notes as they read or after they have read a selection to mark places they want to refer to later. They may choose to note key ideas, identify interesting information, or ask questions about confusing information. Students should also jot down key words on the sticky notes to remember why the idea was marked.

